CLERK

(smiles to TODD) yes that is most certainly right... we really do think about each consumer as we manufacture these robots... we know some consumers are low-class, middle-class and higher-class. We have multiple humanoid robots that can do the practically same things; but suit everyone's budget..

(A PAUSE..)

CLERK

(to TODD) Of course; the slightly more expensive ones have more of a thicker synthetic; and better robot electronic systems within the humanoid robot compartments... but they all practically do the same thing..
